

Exercise: An A-Interface of «EarlyBird»

Let's assume that the architecture of «EarlyBird» contains a component ProductManager that offers a programming interface ISearchProduct (among other interfaces) to the other components.

Specify ISearchProduct as clearly as possible.

To reiterate: ISearchProduct is a programming interface, not a user interface. So you have to specify how the programmer can use it and what she can expect from it.

You must be able to present your results.
